Abstract: Is it feasible to make biodiesel on a small scale. Is it possible to make it? Should it be made? How will the large scale companies react to the the small scale companies selling this product?

Biography

I will be graduating from Charles Sinclair School in 2007. I grew up on the reserve of Fisher River, Manitoba. Some of my hobbies are computer programming, computer animation, audio and video editing, playing paintball with friends, and photography. I am currently interested in taking courses in video game development, and graphic design.
