

CWSF 2005 - Vancouver, British Columbia

Olivia Saccucci

Does Gender Affect How People Taste Sugar?

Division: Health Sciences

Category: Junior

Region: Peterborough

City: Peterborough, ON

School: Lakefield College School

Abstract: This experiment compared the sensitivity to sugar on the taste buds of boys and girls between the ages of 12-15. A set of four sugar solutions with concentrations varying from .1M to .125M was used to test subjects. The lowest concentration a subject identified accurately as containing sugar was recorded.