Sommaire: An innovative computer program was invented for investors. This program automatically follows the markets, as well as the global economy, applies a ground-breaking multi-variable mathematical optimization algorithm to project stock prices, and it advises investors about the optimal transactions by email. This program defies the industry standard by being based on projections as opposed to high frequency trading or the reliance upon key words.

Biographie

Cengiz Eller born in Toronto Ontario is currently living in Owen Sound Ontario. Cengiz has always been passionate about STEM fields as well as Finance and Business. The inspiration for his project stemmed from that passion, as well as his interest in algorithmic trading. For the past few years Cengiz had observed computerized trading continuing to occupy a larger market share. Therefore, for his present CWSF project Cengiz learned the fundamentals of Computer Science which allowed him to create his own automatic financial advisor. To further his project Cengiz plans to implement his program in a user friendly smartphone application which would allow it to become more interactive and dynamic. Cengiz hopes to study engineering then further his studies with an MBA (Masters in Business Administration) which will allow him to follow his passions in both STEM and the business world.
