

CWSF 2015 - Fredericton, New Brunswick

Multi-Hydrocarbon Based Approach to Water Retention Technologies

Challenge: Innovation

Category: Junior

Region:

City: ,

School:

Abstract: The Alberta floods of 2013 cost the Canadian government an estimated $6 billion. To find a more effective sandbag to reduce the devastating impact of floods, 3 types of sandbags in 3 formations were tested. It was found that applying a 2 mm coating of petroleum jelly to the outside of standard sandbags increased their rate of water retention by 336%.