Abstract: Earth on Fire, is a project focused on forest fires and forest fire management. The primary goal was to conduct experiments that are as similar as possible to actual techniques used within the forest fire management industry and determine the most effective strategy.

Biography

My name is Luciana Tudor. I am 12 years old and attend grade 7 in London Ontario. This past summer I went to Alberta with my family and saw Forest Fires for the first time. After that I learned about the losses they cause including the life of fire fighters. My goal was to look at what we do. I would like to see if there is something better that can be done to control forest fires now that I understand our current methods. I believe that you should be passionate about what you do, that is the best fuel to success.
