

CWSF 2006 - Saguenay, Québec

Justin Ropson, Courtney Tetford

All You Can Eat Shrimp

Division: Biotechnology

Category: Senior

Region: Central Newfoundland

City: Lewisporte, NL, Stanhope, NL

School: Lewisporte Collegiate

Abstract: This project was designed to determine the effectiveness of protein hydrolysates extracted from shrimp shells as an attractant in fish feed. Diets containing various concentrations of protein were administered to fish of different species and their responses were recorded. It was found that the protein hydrolysates increased the response of the fish to their feed.